A PROMISE KEPT

The Story Behind GAIT

By Martha Dubensky, Founder

People ask me, how did I start GAIT? Here's my story. It actually began when I was very little.

I was an invisible kid.
I was pathetically shy.
I had a speech problem.
I felt alone most of the time.

But I wasn't too little to dream. And I was never too little to pray. So, I made a promise to God that if I was ever lucky enough to have my own horse, I would always share it.

When I was 13, I got my first horse. I was so grateful to have my very own horse that I never minded cleaning stalls, feeding before school, carrying water from the house to the barn even in the winter, tending to wounds, and even babysitting to pay for the feed, bedding, hay, vet, and farrier.
And I kept my promise to God.

All through high school, college, various jobs, and various locations, when I had a horse, I would always stop to give a boost into the saddle for anyone who wanted to feel the joy that I did with a horse.

"I made a promise to God that if I was ever lucky enough to have my own horse, I would always share it."

I was introduced to therapeutic riding when my husband and I moved to Honesdale. A few years, a few kids, and a couple of moves later, I volunteered at an established therapeutic riding center, Winslow, in Warwick, NY. Soon after, they recommended me to help develop a program in Milford. After becoming a certified therapeutic riding instructor in PA, then through PATH International we began a program with a couple of "backyard" horses. They were good horses but were not happy doing this type of specialized work. I knew I needed to carefully choose horses that were immediately qualified for this job.

One day, I received a call from Charles "Duke" Mortimer, owner of his farm in Montague, NJ, and the opportunity to find my own horses. He helped organize a Board of Directors, By-laws, and Federal and State non-profit status. But we soon out-grew his generosity and found our current location in Milford. Thirty years ago, we began as Genuine Alternative in Therapy with the acronym of GAIT.

I am grateful to this community, to the board members who have come and gone over the years, to the hundreds of volunteers who made it happen, and to all the participants from whom I have learned. I am indebted to all those who have allowed me to share my love of horses and to all the horses who shared their grace, forgiveness, acceptance, and generosity throughout my life. All have allowed me to keep my promise to God.

THIRTY YEARS OF CHANGING LIVES THROUGH HORSES

A promise made. A promise kept.

THE STORY OF GAIT

30 YEARS OF HORSES, HEALING, AND HOPE

In 1995, a small group of dedicated individuals led by founder Martha Dubensky shared a vision: to create a place where people with special needs could experience growth, healing, and connection through horses. What began with four horses and a commitment to serving the community would grow into one of the region's most respected equine-assisted services organizations.

In January 1996, GAIT was incorporated as a Pennsylvania charitable organization and later received Federal 501(c)3 nonprofit status in June 1997. The organization began in Dingmans Ferry, Pennsylvania, before moving to a barn in Montague, New Jersey. In 1998, the program was relocated to a rented facility in Milford, Pennsylvania, where the seeds of GAIT were planted.

A major milestone came in 2004 when a local philanthropist purchased and donated the nearly five-acre property that GAIT had been renting. With a permanent home established, the organization continued to grow. Over the years, new fencing, buildings, an indoor arena, and an expanded herd transformed the property into a thriving community resource.

Then, in 2005, disaster struck. A devastating fire destroyed the barn and all equine equipment, office computers, and records. Miraculously, every horse and even the beloved barn cat were unharmed. Refusing to let tragedy interrupt the mission, staff, volunteers, and community members rallied together. With borrowed equipment and overwhelming community support, classes resumed the very next day, a testament to the resilience and determination that continue to define GAIT today.

For three decades, GAIT has remained steadfast in its mission to improve the quality of life of children, adolescents, and adults through equine-assisted services. What makes GAIT unique is not only the expertise of its staff and volunteers, but also the extraordinary role of its horses. Carefully selected and trained, these horses become trusted partners in the healing process, helping participants build confidence, develop independence, strengthen communication skills, and discover new possibilities within themselves.

The impact of this work reaches far beyond the arena. Children who struggle in traditional settings find confidence and success. Veterans rediscover connection and purpose. Individuals with physical, emotional, cognitive, and mental health challenges find acceptance, empowerment, and hope. Families discover a supportive community where progress is celebrated and every achievement matters.

Throughout its history, GAIT has remained a leader within the equine-assisted services industry. As a PATH Intl. Premier Accredited Center, the organization upholds the highest standards of safety, ethics, and professionalism. Founder Martha Dubensky became widely respected as an educator, mentor, and industry leader, helping shape and advance the field nationwide. Today, that commitment to excellence continues through a team of highly qualified professionals, including PATH-certified instructors, equine specialists, mental health professionals, and occupational therapy practitioners.

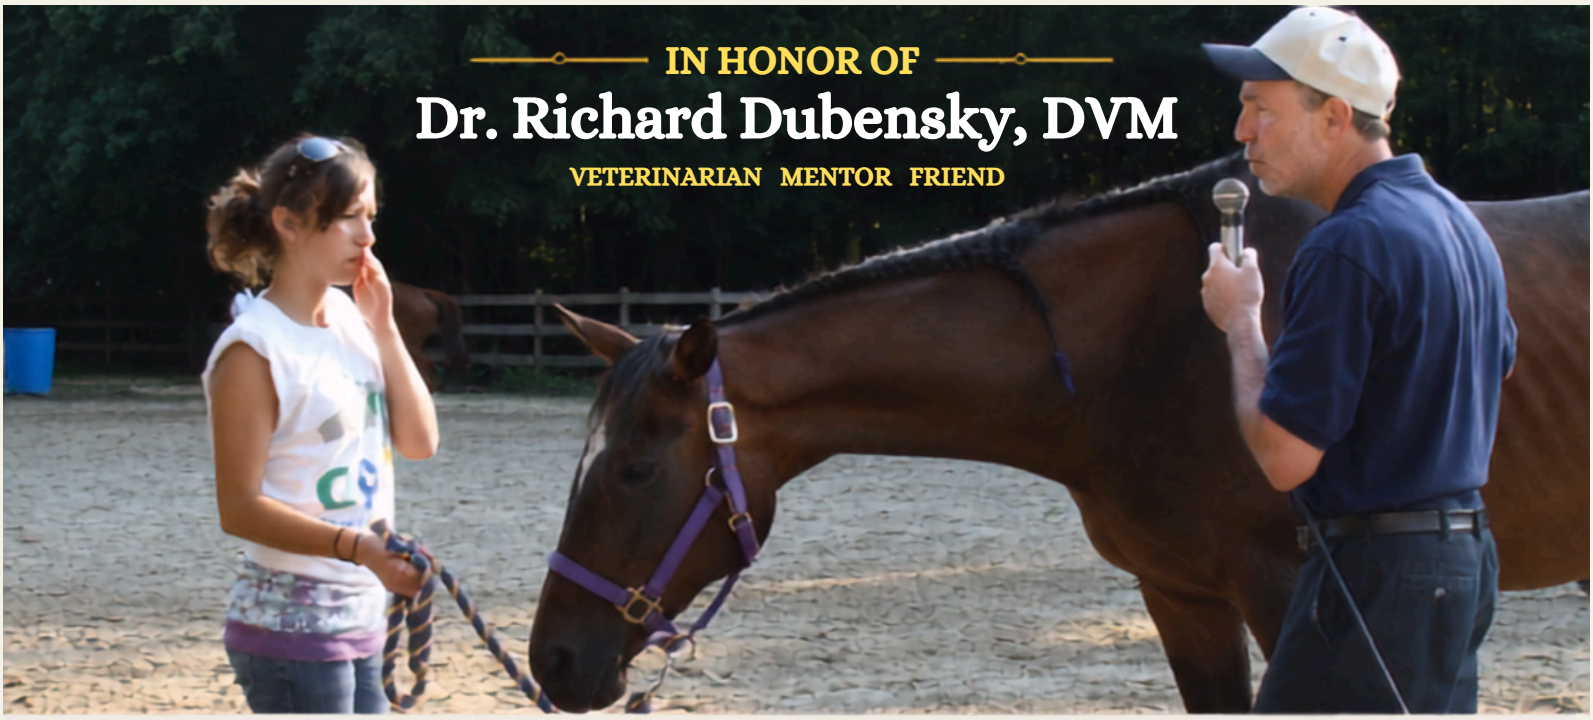

On average, GAIT serves more than 300 participants annually, with approximately 68–70% relying on scholarships, grants, or reduced program fees to access services. This commitment to accessibility has remained central to our mission for three decades, ensuring that financial circumstances never stand in the way of healing, growth, and connection.

As GAIT celebrates its 30th anniversary, it also celebrates the thousands of lives touched along the way -- participants, families, volunteers, donors, staff members, and, of course, the remarkable horses who have carried the mission forward.

From four horses and a dream to a cornerstone community resource, GAIT's story is one of perseverance, compassion, and unwavering belief in the healing power of the horse.

Thirty years later, the mission remains as strong as ever.
The horses are still waiting.
The gates are still open.
And healing continues, one connection at a time.

"Everyone has a special need."
— Martha Dubensky

IN HONOR OF

Dr. Richard Dubensky, DVM

VETERINARIAN MENTOR FRIEND

A TEACHER IN EVERY SENSE OF THE WORD

For many at GAIT. Dr. Richard Dubensky was more than a veterinarian. He was a teacher, mentor, problem-solver, and trusted friend. Whether he was sharing his knowledge during Horse Affair Days, guiding a young handler, sidewalks beside a rider, caring for a horse in need, or offering quiet advice in the barn aisle, Dr. Dubensky approached every situation with patience, humility, and an unwavering commitment to the welfare of both horses and people. His impact can be seen not only in the lives of the horses he helped, but in the confidence, skills, and dedication he inspired in others.

With gratitude and remembrance,

THE GAIT FAMILY

Side walking with a participant, building confidence every step of the way

Performing a dental procedure on Rusty, essential care for a healthy, comfortable horse

Treating Diggy's eyelid tear with skill, compassion, and gentle hands

His lessons continue to influence how we care for our herd and serve our participants today. The photographs on this page capture only a few moments from the countless ways Dr. Dubensky served GAIT. Whether treating injuries, teaching horse care, mentoring volunteers, or helping participants succeed, he believed knowledge should be shared and every horse deserved the very best care possible.

"His legacy lives on in every healthy horse, every lesson learned, and every life touched by the organization he cared so deeply about."

LEADERSHIP IN ACTION

The success of GAIT has never been built by one person alone. It has been built by people who showed up, stepped forward, and said yes when help was needed. Whether leading from the boardroom, volunteering at an event, caring for horses, or advocating for the mission, these moments reflect the spirit of service that has sustained GAIT for 30 years.

IN HONOR OF

Phyllis & Charlie Dunay

GAIT VOLUNTEERS

Phyllis, then Charlie Dunay.

Phyllis began volunteering in Montague, NJ where G.A.I.T. began its non-profit status. She was commandeered by her brother-in-law, Duke Motimer who owned the property he rented to us. He thought Phyllis, a retired special education teacher, needed something to keep her busy. He was right, and she was became a loyal volunteer.
But when we needed to move to GAIT's current location in Milford, PA, I did not think she would follow me as her commute would be an hour each way. I was wrong. She not only came to every class we had at the time....3 days a week, but she encouraged her husband, who was still working, to come and help with fixing up the place.....and boy, did it need fixing up! So Charlie came as often as he could to fix broken fences, rotting stall boards, and clearing pasture areas of rocks. Then something funny happened. Charlie began to help with classes, and he was smitten! Together they volunteered countless hours and materials, Phyllis armed with coffee and cookies, Charlie with his tools.

He and Phyllis rarely missed a class day at GAIT. Until one Wednesday when Phyllis called and said she didn't think they could make it because she couldn't wake up Charlie. He passed that day. And Phyllis continued to come, until she couldn't. They were both in their eighties.

Charlie said GAIT kept him active and purposeful. Phyllis said GAIT kept them alive.

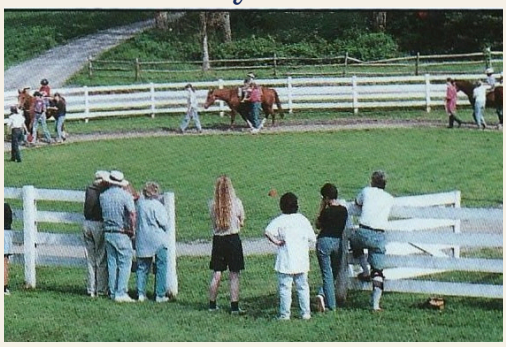

LEARNING BEYOND THE SADDLE

30 Years of Growth, Discovery, & Connection

A Vision Takes Root

Home Away From Home

Building the Program

From the beginning, GAIT recognized that growth and healing happen in many ways. While horses have always been at the heart of our mission, some of the most meaningful lessons have taken place on the ground.

Over the past 30 years, GAIT has remained committed to meeting participants where they are, creating experiences that foster learning, connection, and success both in and out of the arena. These moments remind us that the journey is not defined by the saddle alone, but by the relationships, discoveries, and accomplishments made along the way.

Some of the most important lessons happen with feet firmly on the ground.

A MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

As we celebrate GAIT's 30th Anniversary, I find myself reflecting on the extraordinary people, horses, and moments that have shaped this organization over the past three decades.

When I joined GAIT in March 2024, I quickly learned that this organization is far more than a facility, a program, or a nonprofit. GAIT is a community. It is a place where horses become partners in healing, where volunteers become family, and where participants discover strength, confidence, and connection they may not have known was possible.

Over the past two years, I have had the privilege of witnessing countless examples of the impact that happens here every day. I have watched children take brave first steps, veterans find fellowship and purpose, survivors rediscover trust, and families celebrate milestones that once felt out of reach. Through it all, our horses have remained the steady, compassionate partners at the heart of every success story.

As I learned more about GAIT's history, I came to appreciate the dedication, sacrifice, and vision of those who came before me. From our founders and early volunteers to the staff, board members, donors, and community partners who have sustained this mission over the years, GAIT's story has always been one of people coming together to create something larger than themselves.

The last 30 years have brought growth, challenges, change, and remarkable accomplishments. Through every season, one thing has remained constant: a belief in the healing power of horses and the importance of creating a place where every person feels valued, supported, and capable of growth.

Today, as we honor our past, we also look to the future. We are expanding opportunities in mental health, occupational therapy, veteran services, literacy programming, and trauma-informed care while remaining deeply committed to the welfare of the horses who make our mission possible. The needs of our community continue to evolve, and GAIT stands ready to evolve with them.

To everyone who has been part of this journey, participants, families, volunteers, staff, donors, community partners, and friends, thank you. Your support, generosity, and belief in this mission have made these first 30 years possible.

As you turn the pages of this commemorative booklet, I hope you see more than a history of programs and milestones. I hope you see a story of resilience, compassion, partnership, and hope. Most importantly, I hope you see the countless lives that have been touched because people cared enough to believe in this mission.

Thank you for helping us celebrate 30 years of healing, connection, and community.

The story isn't ending.

We're just turning the page.
